Delay fears over regeneration plans

A PIONEERING approach to the way Haringey Council plans to deliver £2billion worth of regeneration risks being held up.

It had been intended to establish the Haringey Development Vehicle next month – a private company half-owned by the council and half-owned by a developer – to carry out one of the biggest regeneration programmes in the country.

It aims to transfer council-owned estates earmarked for regeneration to the HDV, which over the next 20 years will build more than 5,000 new homes as well as a new town centre in Wood Green.

By retaining ownership of the land, the council receives a 50-50 split of the profits, which, it says, will be ploughed back into providing services.

But a report by the council's housing and regeneration scrutiny panel recommends that any decision is delayed for six months to allow more time to properly run the rule over a scheme of such a scale. The overview and scrutiny committee will receive the report at a meeting on January 17 and, if it agrees, the council's cabinet will decide whether the HDV goes ahead, or is deferred.

A decision on the preferred partner for the Haringey Development Vehicle is due to be made at the cabinet meeting in February. A shortlist of was drawn up in the summer.

Holocaust survivor's school visit

A SURVIVOR of the Holocaust will share her story of the horrors she and millions of Jews suffered at the hands of the Nazis when she speaks to pupils at a Wood Green school next week.

Joan Salter will be at Woodside School, in White Hart Lane, on Friday as part of a visit organised by the Holocaust Educational Trust, a charity whose aim is to ensure the lessons of the past are not repeated by raising awareness among younger generations of Hitler's genocide.

The 76-year-old will answer questions from year 9 students and tell how her family had to flee Nazi-occupied France when she was a baby.

"It is a privilege for us to welcome Joan Salter and her testimony will remain a powerful reminder of the horrors so many experienced," said co-heads Gerry Robinson and Elma McElligot.

"We are grateful to the Holocaust Educational Trust for coordinating the visit and hope it will encourage our students to learn from the lessons of the Holocaust and make a positive difference in their own lives."

VIDEO PROVIDES PROGRESS REPORT ON SPURS GROUND

A VIRTUAL reality video has been released giving Spurs fans a glimpse of the match-day atmosphere inside the club's new £400million stadium when it is completed in 2018.

The computer-generated video, which can be viewed online at www.youtube.com/embed/4sGBJtASERM, features as part of a new-look website launched last week by Tottenham Hotspur designed to give supporters the chance to see how construction of the 61,000-seater stadium is progressing.

The website includes live on-site cameras enabling supporters to keep an eye on progress of the building work which is taking place next door to the club's White Hart Lane ground.

There is also time-lapse footage from various cameras charting the day-to-day advancement of the massive operation.

The website also has information about the new stadium's facilities as well as details of registering for corporate premium seats, suites and lounges –with seats starting from "as little as £100 per match". General season ticket admission prices will be "announced in due course."

A Spurs spokesman said: "The new time-lapse feature will give supporters access to the latest photos as they appear at regular intervals across the cameras as well as having the ability to scroll back through time to see how the scheme has advanced since those cameras became active.

"New fly-through videos across the website will provide our supporters with greater insight into how our completed world-class stadium will look both externally on the High Road and also inside the stadium bowl for Premier League football, NFL and concerts."

The stadium is scheduled to be ready for the 2018-2019 season, with Spurs playing all of next season's home matches at Wembley Stadium.

Work in progress: The ground should be ready by the start of the 2018-19 season

Low emission bus zone bid to improve air quality

MAYOR of London Sadiq Khan has announced new low emission bus zones in a bid to improve air quality in Haringey.

The route from High Road, Wood Green, to Green

Lanes is one of ten new zones which have been unveiled by the mayor and other routes include Edmonton to Seven Sisters.

It is thought the zones could cut nitrogen dioxide emissions by 84 per cent and improve people's health.

Buses will get priority over other traffic to reduce stop-start driving, which creates emissions of pollution-forming gases.

Mr Khan said: "Removing the oldest, dirtiest buses from our streets and delivering low emission bus zones will make a big contribution to tackling transport pollution.

"Safeguarding the health of Londoners is vital and I'm doing everything in my power both to transform London's bus fleet and to target areas with the worst pollution."

The capital's dirty air is blamed for the premature deaths of 9,000 people a year.

Last November the High Court said that the government was breaking the law by not tackling illegal levels of nitrogen dioxide air pollution swiftly.

Mr Khan also wants Transport for London to phase out the use of diesel-only buses and commit to buying only hybrid or zero emission double deckers from next year.

Tompson Platt, head of policy at Living Streets, which champions walking, said: "It's encouraging the mayor is taking action to improve air quality on some of London's busiest high streets, where thousands of people walking are exposed to dangerous fumes every day."

Renovation opens up extra cemetery space

By Clare Casey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

THE grave issue of a chronic shortage of burial space is being addressed by Enfield Council following a revamp at Southgate Cemetery.

The 13-acre site, in Waterfall Road, has been landscaped, stripping back overhanging trees, rooting out rotting trees and flattening a couple of old sheds to open up the cemetery and accommodate extra plots.

As well as the extra space for traditional lawn graves, there are mausolea and burial chambers and a new, soon-to-be-completed section for the burial of ashes.

The council's cabinet member for environment, Daniel Anderson, said: "There is a severe shortage of burial space in London.

"Enfield Council, like many other London boroughs, is therefore looking at ways to accommodate new burials.

"Southgate Cemetery has undergone significant redevelopment, which frees up more space, so residents now have a wide range of choices available at the site."

Mr Anderson added that the council-owned site was a peaceful last resting place for loved ones in leafy and tranquil surroundings.

Meanwhile, New Southgate Cemetery is waiting to see if a parliamentary bill gets the green light to allow graves more than 75 years old to be excavated, the remains reburied "to their deepest depth" and new caskets buried on top.

Revamped: Southgate Cemetery, in Waterfall Road

Otherwise, in nine years' time, the cemetery, in Brunswick Park Road, where many members of the Catholic, Cypriot and Caribbean communities are buried and which is the main burial place for the Baha'i community, where their founder was laid to rest, will be at capacity.

Missing man's body found

THE body of an Enfield man who had been missing for two days was found on open land close to a reservoir in Chingford last week.

Patrick Stokes was discovered off Folly Lane, close to Banbury Reservoir at about 1.15pm on Wednesday – shortly after his white pick-up truck had been located nearby.

The 55-year-old, pictured above, had last been seen at his home two days earlier. He failed to return after leaving to go to east London.

His death is being treated as unexplained, but not suspicious.

Family flee house fire

QUICK thinking by a vigilant passer-by helped rescue a family from a house fire.

Two adults and two children escaped to safety uninjured from the house, in Roedean Avenue, Enfield Highway on Saturday afternoon after the passer-by spotted smoke coming from a room and knocked on their door to alert the occupants to the danger.

More than 20 firefighters from Enfield and Tottenham stations tackled the blaze, which damaged part of the loft. The cause of the fire is being investigated.

£400 boost for church's homeless shelter

PUPILS and parents helped give a homeless shelter a £400 boost by raising cash at a school concert.

The money was raised for St Alphege Church, in Edmonton.

It is the third year the church, in Hertford Road, has opened its doors to offer 12 bed spaces a night for homeless people during the winter months.

Vicar Michael Childs and volunteer coordinator Sue Johnson are pictured being presented with a cheque for £400 by two pupils at Cuckoo Hall Academy, in Cuckoo Hall Lane, and headteacher Sharon Ahmet following the school's Christmas concert fundraiser.

The shelter, which is co-ordinated by the All People All Places charity, offers a bed for the night and laundry, clothing and washing facilities and showers, as well as breakfast and dinner.

The Rev Childs said: "We are very grateful to the children, parents and staff at Cuckoo Hall who raised this brilliant sum. Every night we look at our homeless guests and realise how frighteningly easy it is for circumstances to go against you – and how difficult it can be to bounce back."

Mrs Ahmet said: "Cuckoo Hall parents dug deep into their pockets to show how passionate they are about supporting this wonderful initiative. Mr Childs and his volunteers are providing an essential service to people who have fallen on difficult times."

School hails new nursery

A NEW nursery has opened at a primary school providing 60 much-needed places for youngsters.

Hazelwood Nursery has been built within the existing school and children's centre, in Hazelwood Lane, Palmers Green, and offers 30 morning and 30 afternoon places for three and four-year-olds.

It is hoped that the borough's newest nursery will plug the gap and help ease the shortage of places in the area.

The nursery had a special celebration when it was officially opened by Diana Weston, Enfield Council's head of service for early years.

The council's cabinet member for education, children's services and protection, Ayfer Orhan, said: "This new nursery is set to create excellent conditions for teaching and learning for both staff and pupils."

"Every borough in London is facing huge pressure on school places and we have been working incredibly hard with the schools in Enfield to meet the significant need for primary school places in the borough and our £110million school expansion programme will provide more new places for children in the areas in which they are most needed by 2018."

"We have a long-term commitment to improve facilities and provide extra school places in the areas they are most needed."

"Our plans are to build more schools in the coming years and we are determined to provide enough primary school places across Enfield to give parents a better chance of getting into a school close to where they live."

The Hazelwood nursery offers a mixture of full-time and part-time places and the school's headteacher Nicky Ross said: "We are really proud of our new nursery provision."

"The children have settled well. They are very happy in the school nursery environment and are already making really good progress. We have a great early years team and they provide excellent provision for our local community."

Kacey is hoping her songs will be the making of a star

By Priya Kingsley-Adam

priya.kingsley-adam@nlhnews.co.uk

BUDDING singer-songwriter Kacey Chambers is hoping stardom will beckon in 2017.

The 23-year-old, who lives in Turkey Street, Enfield, has won the chance to have a song she composed recorded in a studio and broadcast online as part of an initiative to promote up-and-coming artists.

A video featuring the track can be viewed online on Vodafone Future Breakers Big Top 40, which has been launched with radio broadcaster Global.

"I was so grateful to be picked," said Kacey. "I didn't think I would be. It was very exciting."

"I wasn't nervous because I've been in a recording studio before, but I haven't had so many cameras on me," she explained.

Kacey won the opportunity after sending her music on SoundCloud – from an online audio streaming website.

"My friends were really proud of me when they found out and told me to keep going," she said.

Kacey has been singing since she was seven years old and now performs regularly with her church group as well as at weddings, festivals and fashion shows.

She lists Brandy and Whitney Houston among the singers who have inspired her.

"Brandy works really hard and has perfected her craft," she said. "I have a lot of respect for her."

Kacey writes her own music and her latest

Going into a recording studio: Kacey Chambers song, Let It Go, is based on personal experience.

"It is about forgiveness and letting go of baggage," she explained. "I want people to be uplifted and just let go when they listen to it."

Kacey hasn't been signed to a label yet and says she wants her music to mature before she makes it as a professional singer.

"This year I want to work on being ready as a performer and as an artist," she added.

"I try to sing each day and I'm hoping to write more songs."

"Sometimes, if you just focus on music, you can get a bit self-absorbed, but music is my life and brings me joy."

MP joins the fight

By Clare Casey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

AN Enfield MP is lobbying the mayor of London to extend the Ultra Low Emission Zone (ULEZ) from central London to the North Circular Road and help clean up the air for his constituents.

The ULEZ will be introduced in 2019 and will require drivers of the oldest and dirtiest vehicles to pay a charge.

Drivers that fail to meet the standards will pay a £12.50 fine – separate from the congestion charge.

Initially, the charge zone was to cover central London, but under Sadiq Khan's new plans, now the subject of a public consultation, the ULEZ could stretch from the North Circular to the South Circular Road.

David Burrowes, MP for Enfield Southgate, said: "This issue is of great importance to my constituents as many reside near the busy North Circular Road, which has some of the worst air quality levels in London."

"I will be pressing the mayor to ensure that the proposals benefit outer London, not only central London."

"Research shows that the most deprived communities are on average exposed to 25 per cent higher levels of air pollution."

"This is a matter of health inequalities and my constituents should not be left out."

against road pollution

The scheme is intended to act as an incentive to drivers to use cleaner vehicles or alternative transport to reduce the levels of nitrogen dioxide, a toxic gas produced by diesel vehicles.

Currently, 9,000 premature deaths in the capital each year are attributable to the toxic chemicals in the air, according to information from the Mayor's Office.

Mr Burrowes is chairing a public meeting tomorrow night (Thursday) from 7.30pm at Bowes Primary School, in Bowes Road, New Southgate, with guest speakers from the Green Party and Better Streets for Enfield and representatives from Friends of the Earth.

Top of the agenda is the ULEZ and the cost and advantages if it is extended to the borough.

Anti-pollution plans: Enfield Southgate MP David Burrowes and Mayor of London Sadiq Khan

zones for low emission buses

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

LONDON mayor Sadiq Khan has announced new low emission bus zones in a bid to improve air quality in Edmonton.

The route from Edmonton to Seven Sisters, Tottenham, and taking in Amhurst Park, via Green Lanes, is one of ten new zones unveiled by the mayor.

Buses will get priority over other traffic to reduce stop-start driving, which creates emissions of pollution-forming gases.

It is thought the zones could cut nitrogen dioxide emissions by 84 per cent and improve people's health.

Mr Khan said: "Removing the oldest, dirtiest buses from our streets and delivering low emission bus zones will make a big contribution to tackling transport pollution."

Safeguarding the health of Londoners is vital and I'm doing everything in my power both to transform London's bus fleet and to target areas with the worst pollution."

The plan also aims to reduce pollution affecting school pupils and follows low emission bus zones announced last year for Brixton and Putney, in south London.

Last November, a High Court ruling said that the government was breaking the law by not tackling illegal levels of nitrogen dioxide air pollution swiftly.

Mr Khan also wants Transport for London to phase out the use of diesel only buses and commit to buying only hybrid or zero emission double deckers from next year.

Tompion Platt, the head of policy at Living Streets, which champions walking, welcomed the move and said: "It's encouraging that the mayor is taking action to improve air quality on some of London's busiest high streets, where thousands of people walking are exposed to dangerous fumes every day."

Woman reports £7m gold loss in Hatton Garden raid

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

A WOMAN has told detectives continuing to investigate the Hatton Garden raid masterminded by two Enfield men that she lost £7million in gold – taking the value of the robbery to £21m.

The Metropolitan Police said the alleged victim had come forward in June last year after the conviction of seven men for their roles in the raid.

A police spokeswoman was unable to confirm the amount of property the victim claimed to have lost.

However, she said detectives from the Flying Squad were looking into her claim. The woman has reportedly discovered that £7m worth of gold has gone missing from her safe deposit box from the vault in Hatton Garden, in central London.

A Crown Prosecution Service spokesman said: "The CPS has informed the court and the relevant defendants that there is a victim of the Hatton Garden burglary who is claiming the loss of a substantial amount of property that did not form a part of the £14m estimate put at trial."

Enfield men Terry Perkins, 68, of Heene Road and 59-year-old Danny Jones, of Park Avenue, Bush Hill Park, admitted their role in the audacious robbery at the Hatton Garden Safe Deposit company over the Easter weekend in 2015 and were sentenced to seven years in jail.

A third of the haul is still missing.

A third Enfield man, Hugh Doyle, 49, of Riverside Gardens, was convicted of concealing, converting or transferring criminal property after the burglary and was given a 21-month suspended prison sentence.

He is appealing and awaiting a hearing date at the Court of Appeal in a bid to overturn his conviction.

He was cleared of the more serious charge of conspiracy to conceal, covert or transfer criminal property by a jury at Woolwich Crown Court in January last year.

Swoop on gambling machines

A STRING of suspected unlicensed and illegal gaming machines have been seized as part of a borough-wide clampdown on illegal gambling.

Police, customs officers, the Gambling Commission and Enfield Council's licensing enforcement department teamed up in a combined operation.

They swooped on seven premises and seized 11 gaming machines which are believed to be illegal.

The council's cabinet member for environment Daniel Anderson, said: "The Gambling Commission made us aware of the links between unlicensed betting terminals and organised crime and we are doing our bit to fight this as well as tackling the scourge of gambling addiction in this borough."

The machines were seized from unlicensed social clubs and one restaurant, rather than from regulated gaming establishments.

It is currently unknown how much money is in the machines and their respective owners have 28 days to come forward to prove they are not illegal.

Cycling plans come under scrutiny again

By Julia Gregory

julia.gregory@nlhnews.co.uk

ANOTHER bid to get the council to reconsider its approval for the controversial multi-million-pound Cycle Enfield scheme has been made after it was "called in" for a second time.

It was discussed at the meeting of Enfield Council's overview and scrutiny committee on Tuesday January 10 – the Advertiser went to press before the outcome was known.

The committee had the option of referring it back to cabinet member for environment Daniel Anderson and giving him 14 working days to reconsider, or referring the matter to a full council meeting, or accepting the original decision.

The call-in documents claimed there was insufficient consultation on options for the scheme in Enfield Town and called for bike traffic to be moved away from the main highways.

Meanwhile, those pressing for the decision to be re-examined, claimed that just 43 per cent of people who responded to the consultation in Hertford Road were in favour.

They also criticised any predicted loss of on-street parking and did not accept that "informal parking" could be accommodated in sideroads.

At least six councillors signed call-in papers with the aim of forcing the council to put the scheme on hold while their objections were considered.

Called in: The revised plans for cycle lanes in Enfield Town cil to put the scheme on hold while their objections were considered.

In August, a High Court judge threw out an application for a judicial review by the Save Our Green Lanes Group which argued that the council's statement that the scheme would create "a better Enfield for all" was unfair and would worsen air quality.

In September, the committee considered an earlier call-in by Conservative group leader Terry Neville, who said that more than 1,600 people opposed the scheme and argued that more time should have been spent considering their views.

Mr Anderson said a lot of work had been done on the scheme and the council had listened to concerns. At the time the overview and scrutiny committee upheld his decision.

Clampdown after begging sparks spate of complaints

BEGGING tops complaints when it comes to antisocial behaviour.

More than 440 calls about the problem were recorded last year, according to a report which was considered by Enfield Council's standing crime scrutiny panel meeting last week.

Police also recorded 205 instances on CCTV.

Hotspots included Edmonton Green with 140 reports of begging and Upper Edmonton with 91 cases.

Most beggars are also homeless, according to housing charity Crisis. They may also have poor physical and mental health and take drugs.

A police clampdown in Palmers Green, says the report, resulted in a beggar being banned from pubs in the borough.

The council's community safety unit joined forces after getting reports about the individual "who was being particularly verbally aggressive in his begging towards members of the public".

He was given a criminal behaviour order in September which included "some particularly stringent prohibitions".

They included prohibiting him from licensed premises in Palmers Green and Southgate and barring him from loitering outside Starbucks and Costa Coffee shops, as well as being banned for begging for cash or goods anywhere in England and Wales.

Immigration and police launched a joint operation to clamp down on begging in Fore Street, in Edmonton after residents said it was a persistent problem there.

They worked with charity Thamesreach which helps the homeless find somewhere to live.

People were moved on from the area and those from the EU who were in breach of their rights were served with immigration notices, reveals the report.

Upper Edmonton also has a high rate of prostitution, which accounted for 465 reports last year out of a total of 578 for the borough.

Many calls came from the Joyce Avenue Estate and the council joined forces with the police to patrol the area, removed disused bin sheds and cleared up condoms and litter, said the report.

In Edmonton Green, there were 75 police calls and incidents recorded on CCTV.

Prostitution is not illegal, but loitering or soliciting and kerb crawling is against the law.

The council said that many of the women stopped in Upper Edmonton for street prostitution were Romanians and Bulgarians.

However, they told the authorities that they were only working for money and "the majority of women stopped have not been class A drug users and refuse any offers of assistance to exit sex work or refuse offers of support stating they are not trafficked or coerced".

PARENTS are being reminded to submit primary and nursery school applications by the end of the week for this year's intake.

The deadline for admissions is Sunday (January 15) and Enfield Council is urging parents to submit their applications in time to try and avoid missing out on their first choice.

Children born between September 1, 2013, and August 31, 2014, are eligible for a nursery school place while children born between September 1, 2012, and August 31, 2013, are eligible for a primary school place.

Ayfer Orhan, the council's cabinet member for education, children's services and protection, said: "A truly fantastic 98 per cent of our primary schools have been rated as 'good' or 'outstand-

Deadline looms for applying to primary schools

"In order to maximise the chances of that happening, it is vitally important that they apply for a primary school place in plenty of time," she added.

In the dark: A crowd gathered for the annual Christmas turn-on in Palmers Green – but there was a distinct lack of lights

Minimal cost of putting up lights

WE were told by Alan Sitkin that there were no Christmas lights in Palmers Green due to “the cuts” (Advertiser, November 30).

This is nothing more than a cynical excuse for a political agenda.

Enfield Council already had last year’s lights, so no cost there, and employs the staff to put them up, again no cost – and the cost of running them is minimal.

Mr Sitkin also stated that Transport for London is paying for the cycle lanes in full.

TfL is funding £30million of the cost of cycle lanes, more than £42 million.

Is this another example of Labour not knowing how to balance the books?

Back on the lights situation, a few years ago Palmers Green had gaudy but wonderfully cheerful lights that transformed the area, bringing people in to use the local businesses, restaurants and cafés in particular.

We were told those lights were damaged in a warehouse flood

What happened to the insurance payout? If it was used on the sorry minimalist lights of the previous few years which looked like Enfield Town cast-offs, then whoever was in charge of the council procurement should definitely have their job cut.

Did you suffer prejudice because you were gay?

AWARD-WINNING documentary company Testimony Films needs your help for a new Channel 4 documentary to mark the 50th anniversary of the Sexual Offences Act 1967.

Through this film, we want to tell the story of gay men throughout this country during the 20th century.

Did you suffer prejudice or prosecution because of your sexuality, before or after the 1967 law was passed?

Were you one of the victims of the age of consent laws which meant that young gay men could be prosecuted for having sex below the age of 21 – and later 18 – whereas it was legal for everyone else? Did you live in fear of being caught?

Did you have to leave your job or were you dishonourably discharged from the armed forces? Were you affected by Section 28? Did you have a positive or negative experience of coming out, or did you feel like you couldn’t reveal your sexuality? Was your relationship with your family, or your faith, affected? Were you forced to endure aversion therapy?

Despite everything, did you remain defiant and get involved in campaigns to change people attitudes and the law? In what ways did you fight for your rights?

How have more liberal attitudes and equal rights for gays over the past 50 years changed and enriched your life?

If you have a story to share, we would love to hear from you. Please contact Pete Vance or Emily Sivyver on 0117 925 8589 or at pete.vance@testimonyfilms.com or emily.sivyver@testimonyfilms.com

Unsung heroes offer so much help to sufferers of diabetes

WE are searching for those unsung heroes in the community who go above and beyond what is expected of them to help support people with diabetes.

Every year thousands of people volunteer hours of their time to Diabetes UK and their efforts make a real difference to the lives of those living with the condition.

The London Inspire Awards are a chance to thank them for their contributions and highlight how their work has had a positive impact on the lives of others.

We want to pay tribute to the incredible volunteers for the extraordinary support they give and their sheer hard work.

The wide-reaching work of Diabetes UK would not be possible without their support and dedication.

From fundraising to campaigning to supporting others, there are lots of ways that volunteers help support people with diabetes.

Nominations for 2017 are now open and will close on January 25.

Our winners are chosen by judging panels across the UK and will be presented with their award at a special Make a Difference conference on March 25.

It’s Labour, not the Tories, who are to blame for these cuts

TOM Duce’s letter (“Place the blame where it belongs”, Advertiser, December 21) reflected the constantly pleaded excuses by Labour, blaming the Conservatives for the cuts that affect us all.

He misplaces the blame, for the real culprit is the last Labour government, which almost bankrupted this country and which left it to the incoming Conservative government to rebuild the vastly depleted reserves of our country.

What about Gordon Brown’s sales of our gold? Hence, years of cuts. They even admitted that all the money had gone!

Labour is frequently incompetent when it comes to finance and the millions being wasted at present on the massively unpopular Cycle Enfield is a clear example.

No, Mr Duce, place the blame correctly, Labour is to blame.

Thanks to you all for being so generous

MY sincere thanks to the wonderful townsfolk of Enfield who gave so generously to the work of the Salvation Army during the four Saturdays in December.

We raised the amazing amount of £8416.25 due to your generosity.

It was lovely to engage in conversation with many of you – not only to thank you for your giving, but also to let you know how the Salvation Army helps so many adults and children each year.

Of course, our work continues throughout the year and what you generous folks have given will fund our activities throughout 2017.

With best wishes for a very happy New Year and thanking you again for your splendid generosity.

Damian scoops award for mentoring student nurses

By Priya Kingsley-Adam
priya.kingsleyadam@nlhnews.co.uk

A MENTAL health care worker from Southgate has scooped a prestigious award for going the "extra mile" as a mentor for student nurses.
Damian Levy, who is a community psychiatric nurse for Barnet, Enfield and Haringey Mental Health NHS Trust, won the mentor of the year 2016 accolade from Hertfordshire University, which recognises mentors who provide outstanding training for students.
The 35-year-old, of Mayfield Avenue, was nominated by Sancha Bernard, a student from Enfield, who Damian mentored while on a placement at Barnet Hospital's Springwell Centre.
"I was surprised to be nominated because of the turnover of students," said Damian, "but it was really nice to be recognised."
Damian qualified as a psychiatric nurse for the community rehabilitation team five years ago and has been mentoring student nurses for three years.
While on placement, they help Damian with home visits and medicine management and learn how to rehabilitate patients with mental health conditions back into the community.
"I love mentoring," said Damian. "It's amazing to be able to pass on skills and knowledge and give support to the next generation of nurses."
"It's very rewarding, but the most important thing is that you are

Mentor of the year: Damian Levy, who was nominated for the award by Sancha Bernard (left) approachable and treat them with care and respect because they don't know what to expect when they start and can feel nervous," he added.

Sancha, 36, of Maltby Drive, received a lot of support during her placement.
"At times I felt very unsure of my own skills and knowledge and Damian had every confidence that I was capable and pushed me to trust in myself and my abilities," she said.
Damian was also impressed by Sancha's dedication during the six-week placement.
"She will make a great nurse when she qualifies," he said. "She challenged our practices and was really keen to learn. She was full of enthusiasm."
Damian previously studied at Hertfordshire University and said that winning the award was his way of "giving back."
"We're here to help them build confidence, not knock it," he added. "As a team we always try to be empathic to people who are new, whether it's a colleague or a student."
"I don't think it takes a lot to be a good mentor, but what really stands out to me is the importance of sharing your time and giving trainees confidence to do the role well."

Smugglers hid drugs
in boxes of food

By Clare Casey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

AN electrician from Enfield has been jailed for his role in a drugs gang who smuggled cocaine and cannabis into the UK by disguising them as fruit and vegetables.

Crack cocaine was dyed orange to look like pieces of dried papaya and cannabis was hidden in fake yams from Jamaica during the huge smuggling operation.

Tazio Heath, 24, of Turkey Street, Enfield, was sent to prison for seven years at Isleworth Crown Court on Tuesday last week after pleading guilty to drugs importation and drugs supply offences.

Five men, including Heath, received jail sentences totalling more than 38 years after being caught as part of a huge police sting.

Police seized boxes containing bags of dried fruit labelled "fancy island mix" in January 2015 and found they contained two kilograms of rocks of crack cocaine which had been coloured orange to look like papaya.

Officers arrested Barrington Bennett, 58, a painter and decorator who was carrying the boxes, and later raided the north London home of another gang member where they found 33.8kg of cannabis disguised as yams hidden among authentic vegetables in the boxes.

In the following months, Border Force officers at Gatwick airport seized a ship-

Disguised: The smuggled drugs included crack cocaine and cannabis; Tazio Heath, inset, was jailed for seven years last week ment of 36kg of cannabis disguised as yams as well as 40kg of herbal cannabis.

Further inquiries led to the owner of a recording studio in Reading, Berkshire, where 1.8kg of herbal cannabis was seized.

A further shipment of 36kg of cannabis, again disguised as yams, was seized at Gatwick on March 7, 2015, with Heath the intended recipient of the goods.

Detective Constable Catherine Pearson said: "This criminal network had gone to great lengths to conceal cocaine as papaya pieces and hide cannabis inside fake yams in a clear bid to evade detection by UK Border Force.

"The gang demonstrated their sophistication by using encrypted mobile devices in a bid to frustrate any police investigation, but despite their efforts we were still able to piece together enough evidence to leave them little choice other than to plead guilty at court."

Detective Sergeant Nicola Hawkins, of the Organised Crime Command, said: "I am extremely proud of the diligence and professionalism of my team that resulted in the sentences handed down."

Diet goes out of the window

THE GANNETS

Izgara, Station Road, Edgware

I'M trying to lose weight by not eating bread.

So here I am with a basket full of pide bread pieces coating each one with a thick layer of humous, or dribbling creamy yoghurt sauce over it, or dipping it in a slightly spicy sauce of chopped tomatoes and herbs.

It's all in the name of work, of course, and this isn't even the starter!

Things to like about this Turkish restaurant include the big windows which overlook the high street and food cooked in full view of guests on a grill next to the door as you walk in.

There's an honesty and openness about this place – but not from The Gannets, who are undercover on this occasion, so as to gauge the full customer experience without special treatment.

A starter of falafel with salad and more humous makes a nice combination of flavours and textures (and I've still got some bread, of course).

My main course of mixed fish kebab with salad (called Balık Sis) is marinated cubes of fish, which have been cooked on the open grill and appear to include salmon, halibut and sea bass.

Undercover work: Izgara, where the staff are friendly and the service is prompt

The fish is fresh and juicy, but my fellow gannet says you shouldn't mix hot food with salad on the same plate. She's unhappy because she had carefully scanned the menu for ages, only to be told the dish she wanted had been discontinued (yet it was still printed on the menu).

Instead she chose the vegetarian musakka – aubergine, potatoes, carrot and courgette, served with vegetarian sauce and cheddar cheese.

She doesn't like the way it's served with rice. At least it's hot food on the same plate, I say.

I wonder if she should have gone for one of the many lamb or chicken dishes which are prepared on the open grill and include doner and sis kebabs.

One spoonful of an ice cream dessert called "mango" almost tastes like your entire daily intake of sugar, but my diet has already gone out the window.

The Turkish coffee is dynamite. It's gone in three sips, but blows my socks off.

The staff were friendly and the service was prompt, and the free pide bread had won me over from the start.

Hoots: there's a 'Mousse loose about this hoose!

All the way from the USA: New York-based experimental 'supergroup' Ensemble Pamplemousse

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

AN American "supergroup" few mainstream music fans are likely to have heard of are playing a concert in Haringey, marking their UK debut.

Those unfamiliar with experimental music will be unacquainted with Ensemble Pamplemousse – but the six-piece New York-based outfit is one of its top acts.

They are headlining a bill at the Styx venue, in Ashley Road, Tottenham Hale, on Saturday, featuring fellow contemporary exponents of the genre including Tottenham-based performance artist Emma Bennett, Berlin-based sound artist Antonia Barnett-McIntosh and Miami-based maverick Robert Blatt.

Regarded as avant garde, experimental music is a creative mix of sounds which push the boundaries of the common definition of music, often with the absence of a discernible rhythm, tempo or melody using traditional instruments, objects, or digital electronic devices to manipulate sounds.

Among experimental music luminaries are Tori Amos, Laurie Anderson, Brian Eno and David Byrne, of Talking Heads.

Inspired by everything from trashy pop culture to highbrow classical music, Ensemble Pamplemousse have become a leading group on the international new music scene over the past 13 years, known for their distinctive, exhilarating, hyperactive and absurd stage performances.

The outfit are playing in Manchester the day before the Tottenham gig.

The concerts are promoted by Weisslich, a composer-run organisation for experimental music and performance art.

Ensemble member Jessie Marino said: "We are seriously excited to finally be making our UK debut. Our set of pieces encompasses a range of the raw, dazzling, wacky and occasionally comical numbers we have been germinating, cultivating and rearranging from the past few years."

Land rich in Oscar credentials

LA LA LAND (12A, 128mins)

THE frenzied expectation surrounding writer-director Damien Chazelle's musical love story was deafening before La La Land won a record seven Golden Globe awards this week.

His impeccably crafted follow-up to Whiplash is now installed as the front-runner for Oscars glory and already has one trembling hand on the coveted golden statuettes for best picture and best director.

The feverish hype is fully justified.

La La Land is a visually sumptuous, unabashedly swooning valentine to the golden age of Hollywood musicals, artfully constructed on a foundation of distinctly modern sensibilities.

Yes, characters burst into catchy songs composed by Justin Hurwitz, with snappy lyrics by Benj Pasek and Justin Paul, to express their churning emotions, while their bodies tap, pirouette, twist and jive to Mandy Moore's expressive choreography.

But there is so much more to Chazelle's story of boy meets girl than doe-eyed glances and pat sentiment, including a heart-wrenching second act that affirms the need for everyone to chase their dreams, but also acknowledges the acrid pill we must swallow when reality bites, down to the bone.

Aspiring actress Mia (Emma Stone) works as a barista in between auditions, which repeatedly end in crushing rejection.

On a traffic-jammed Los Angeles freeway, she crosses paths with talented pianist Sebastian (Ryan Gosling), who reverses jazz in its purest form, but is forced to play saccharine standards by restaurant owner Bill (JK Simmons).

"I hate jazz," Mia tells Sebastian after they meet at a party in the Hollywood hills, where they share dreams for the future beneath the twinkling stars of the Californian night sky.

Sebastian is convinced he can spearhead a new appreciation for music until old classmate Keith (John Legend) questions his devotion to masters of a bygone era.

"You're holding on to the past," laments Keith, "but jazz is about the future."

While Mia prepares to stage her semi-autobiographical one-woman show So Long, Boulder City, Sebastian agrees to play keyboard in Keith's soulless, chart-friendly band The Messengers.

Frustrations between the couple come to a head in a fractious to and fro about artistic integrity.

"Since when do you care so much about being liked?" snarls Mia. "You're an actress!" Sebastian angrily reminds her, introducing pot to black kettle.

La La Land is a perfect marriage of directorial brio, tour-de-force performance and jaw-dropping production design.

Gosling and Stone are individually luminous and electrifying as a double act in high-energy song and dance sequences.

Both are gifted emotionally wrought solos – City Of Stars and Audition (The Fools Who Dream) respectively – that galvanise Sebastian and Mia's perilously fragile romance.

Chazelle's film is a bitter and sweet confession in equal doses, laced with dry wit and an appreciation for the tug of war between love and career advancement that necessitates painful self-sacrifices for either side to triumph.

DANDARA'S COLLECTION OF CONTEMPORARY FAMILY HOMES PROVES POPULAR AHEAD OF JANUARY LAUNCH.

Ahead of a public launch towards the end of this month, a stunning collection of new family homes from award-winning property developer Dandara is already proving popular with buyers in Cheshunt.

With prices from £435,000, The Cardinals is a beautifully designed collection of three and four-bedroom homes situated on the former site of the St Mary's High School on Churchgate, in the heart of the town.

As part of an exclusive off-plan sales event that took place in October 2016, Dandara released an initial 11 homes at The Cardinals for sale, with seven reserved already.

Award-winning Dandara, one of the UK's largest independent property developers, is renowned

A computer-generated image of the new homes at The Cardinals.

Situated less than 1.5 miles from Cheshunt Rail Station and only 14 miles from Central London, The Cardinals is expected to be extremely popular with people looking to relocate from the capital, especially with direct services to London Liverpool Street taking less than 25 minutes.

For added peace of mind, all homes at The Cardinals come with a 10-year structural warranty and a two-year Dandara warranty, plus the reassuring support of a dedicated customer care team.

Ahead of its main launch towards the end of January, The Cardinals is already proving popular, with seven homes reserved off-plan.

Speaking of the forthcoming launch, Susie Bennett, Dandara's UK Sales Director for the South East, said, "We have taken great care to ensure that the homes here are designed specifically to meet the challenges of everyday life, with light and airy rooms that provide a real sense of space and master bedrooms with their own en-suite and fitted wardrobe.

"In addition to the quality of the homes themselves, the location is outstanding. Whit Heron Park, Cedars Park and Cheshunt Park are all within easy reach, with Brookfield Shopping Centre also nearby.

"With excellent transport links too, you can see why we are extremely excited about The Cardinals, which will be a fantastic place to live – for all of these reasons, and more!"

Dear Susan

We knew you'd like to see this article in The Advertiser about your old school and a reunion they are planning.

Although you're far away did you know you can view the newspaper online via the digital edition at any time of the week?

There are often articles about the very area you grew up in and people you may know.

We can keep sending the paper to you but this seems such a simple and convenient way to stay in touch with all the news from where you grew up.

Skoda offers value for money

By Jack Evans

THIS is a huge car for Skoda. Tapping into the ever-flourishing SUV market, the Kodiaq aims to give consumers a large, spacious and comfortable vehicle – but for a much lower price than those found with more premium rivals.

Equipped with one of three engines – a 1.4-litre petrol, 2.0-litre petrol or 2.0-litre diesel – the Kodiaq is aiming squarely at larger families who still want to keep running costs low. That means that even base-specification cars get a huge amount of standard equipment, while buyers of higher-grade models won't feel short-changed either, given the increase in the amount of tech on pricier versions.

This is a completely new segment for Skoda and shows a lot of intent from the Czech brand, well-known now for making reliable and well-priced cars, and the Kodiaq comes as an extension of that ethos. With the decline of MPV and rise of SUV, the Kodiaq is a natural progression for the company – but it has to get it right first time if it hopes to succeed.

Skoda seems to have hit the nail on the head with the Kodiahq. It looks purposeful enough, but not too intimidating. The brand is doing well to shake off the "boring" image it was associated with for many years, with the Kodiahq helping this endeavour. Even base-specification cars ride on 17-inch alloy wheels, while top-of-the-range Edition cars are fitted with large 19-inches. Everything about the car feels solid and well put together – though there's no mistaking that the Kodiahq is a Volkswagen group car, with plenty of tech included.

If you're looking to transport a large family, space is essential. Thankfully, this is where the Kodiah does exceptionally well. The five-seat car affords users a colossal 2,065 litres of boot space with the rear seats folded flat – the largest load area in the class. The boot's lip isn't too high either, making loading larger items in and out a little easier, while the completely flat bed with the seats lowered adds to the excellent usability of the boot.

For those looking to take two more people, there's a seven-seat version, giving another string to the Kodiak's already well-strung bow. You're not going to incur much of a penalty in the practicality stakes for picking the seven-seater either as its seats-flat load area is reduced to a still respectable 2,005 litres – which isn't bad at all. However, with that final row raised, the boot space is somewhat tight – something worth remembering if you're planning on using the Kodiak as a seven-seater most of the time.

The Kodiak is offered from launch with two petrol engines, a 1.4-litre turbocharged unit producing 123bhp and a 2.0-litre turbocharged one putting out 178bhp. There's also a 2.0-litre turbocharged diesel, which produces either 148bhp or 187bhp – the former of which is undoubtedly set to become the best seller. Of course, the petrol units will suit those looking to drive the Kodiaq mainly around town, though the diesels will be the better option for people who plan on undertaking more miles. In short, there's a good range of engines that offer something for everyone.

Skoda cars have always excelled at offering consumers quite a lot for their money and the Kodiaq is no different. Base-level S cars get 17-inch alloy wheels, air conditioning and a leather multifunction steering wheel. There's also DAB radio and smartphone connectivity. The S, however, is only available with the 1.4-litre petrol engine, with prices starting at £21,495.

Middle-grade SE cars get 18-inch alloy wheels, cruise control and rear parking sensors. There's also an infotainment system controlled via an eight-inch display – and this comes with a car priced at £22,495.

Barker's delight at setting new record

COCKFOSTERS set a new club record of nine successive victories on Saturday as they climbed up into second place in the Spartan League Premier Division table.

Crawley Green became the latest side to fall victim to in-form Cockfosters as goals from Ioannis Varouxakis – his 20th of the season – and Bobby Sears gave the hosts a 2-0 win which saw them climb a point above Hertford Town into second place in the table, although Hertford have three games in hand.

In addition to breaking the club record for successive wins, the match also saw Cockfosters keep their sixth clean sheet in a row – and manager Dean Barker is understandably thrilled with the efforts of his players.

"The run just keeps on going and it's great to set a new club record," he said. "Although we dominated the game, we were probably a bit lucky to get the win in the end.

"We took the lead but couldn't make the game safe and kept on missing chances and then Crawley were awarded a penalty in the last minute. But our keeper, Austin Byfield, saved the penalty and we went straight up the other end and scored the second.

"It's a huge credit to Austin and the whole team that we've kept so many clean sheets, but I want to pay tribute to our goalkeeping coach Chris Stead. He works really hard with Austin and is one of the unsung heroes at the club."

Barker added: "There is still plenty to play for and we're just enjoying the ride. Since we came to the club we've got further than Cockfosters have ever been in the FA Cup and FA Vase and got the most points the club have ever achieved at Step Five when we got 67 last year – hopefully we'll be able to beat that total again this time around.

"This group of players will go down in Cockfosters' history, but nothing is won in January and it's important that they keep their feet on the ground."

Cockfosters make the trip to Oxhey Jets on Saturday (3pm).

Sarries confirm the signing of Williams

SARACENS have confirmed that Welsh international back Liam Williams will join them at the start of next season.

Williams, who can play either at full-back or on the wing and has won 38 caps for Wales, has signed a three-year deal with the reigning English and European champions and will move to Sarries from the Scarlets in the summer.

"Liam's arrival at Allianz Park next season is fantastic news," said Saracens' director of rugby Mark McCall. "He is only 25 years old and has his best years in rugby ahead of him.

"Liam is arguably one of the most talented backs in Europe, so to have secured his signing is a real coup for the club. We'll look forward to welcoming him in the summer."

Williams, who has made 100 appearances for the Scarlets and is likely to play against Sarries when the two sides meet in the European Champions Cup this weekend, is relishing the prospect of playing in the Premiership next season.

He said: "I am really excited about joining Saracens and having the opportunity to challenge myself in the Aviva Premiership. The club's reputation speaks for itself and I am looking forward to the next chapter of my career.

"I wouldn't be the player I am without the incredible support from the Scarlets' management, players, back-room staff and passionate supporters. I will be giving my all for the remainder of the season and hope to finish on a high."

PLAYERS PRAISED

Something to celebrate: Tyler Campbell is congratulated after scoring the only goal

By Dominique Stafford

sport.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

MANAGER Bradley Quinton hailed his Enfield Town side after they held on to secure a 1-0 victory at home to AFC Sudbury in the Ryman Premier Division on Saturday despite playing with just ten men for more than half the match.

In-form Town were initially dominant and deservedly took the lead through Tyler Campbell on 15 minutes, but their hopes of securing maximum points were dealt a major blow when Nathan Livings was sent off for a reckless challenge shortly before the interval.

However, the hosts defended superbly in the second period to ensure that Sudbury rarely looked like getting back on level terms as they claimed a win which keeps them just two points behind the play-off places.

"It was very disappointing that we went down to ten men," Quinton said. "We were playing well and controlling the game at that point and it could have cost us in the long run.

"But even after we were reduced to ten men we looked the more dangerous side and could have got another goal, which is a huge credit to the guys.

"I thought the whole defence was immense. It was a massive three points for us and we fully deserved the win."

On a high following their crushing win over Harrow Borough in their previous outing, Town began the match positively and it came as little surprise when they took the lead through a low 20-yard shot from Campbell which seemed to lack power but was placed well enough to beat keeper Marcus Garnham's dive and end up in the bottom corner.

Dernell Wynter shot across the face of goal after being played in by Campbell two minutes later, while Jonathan Muleba's low cross was stabbed wide by a sliding Harry Ottaway at the far post as the hosts continued to dominate.

A swift break from a Sudbury corner ended with Ricky Gabriel having a low shot clawed away by Garnham, before Ottaway just failed to turn in a Campbell cross.

But the second goal would not come and Town were reduced to ten men on 39 minutes when Livings saw red for a bad tackle on Jack Wilkinson near halfway.

Having offered little attacking threat, Sudbury were unlucky not to equalise on the stroke of the interval through a 25-yard shot from Sam Bantick which hit the bar.

However, the expected onslaught from the visitors failed to materialise in the second half and Town keeper Nathan McDonald was only called into serious action once when he turned away a Robert Eagle free-kick.

Instead it was the hosts who continued to create the better chances, with Mickey Parcell, Mark Kirby and Ottaway all coming close to adding a second as they deservedly held on for the victory.

Enfield Town go to table-topping Bognor Regis Town on Saturday (3pm), before hosting Hendon on Tuesday in the quarter-finals of the Middlesex Senior Cup (7.45pm).

SPORTS SHORTS

Rugby Union: Saracens displayed great resilience to snatch a 13-13 draw at home to Exeter in the Aviva Premiership on Saturday despite playing with 14 men for most of the match.

Just ten minutes had been played when Richard Barrington saw red after hitting Exeter lock Geoff Parling in the head with his shoulder during a collision, while skipper Brad Barritt was lucky to escape without punishment for what appeared to be a worse challenge in the same incident.

Sarries appeared to be heading for a rare defeat when they trailed 10-3 at the interval, but they fought back superbly in the second half and deservedly managed to escape with a draw. Titi Lamositele scored their only try, with Alex Lozowski adding a conversion and two penalties.

Rugby Union: Enfield Ignatians endured a day to forget on Saturday as they were beaten 62-3 at HAC in London Division Two North West.

Ignatians struggled throughout the match, and their task was made harder by the 14th-minute dismissal of lock Frank Antwi after just 16 minutes. Jake Bates did slot over a penalty for the visitors, but free-running HAC capitalised on their numerical superiority to open up a 34-3 lead by the interval.

The same pattern continued in the second half, with the hosts' superior pace and power enabling them to complete an eight-try rout as they maintained their push for promotion.
